For this document, I will be referring to Jesus the Messiah as Issa since his imposter Jeshu is too similar to the name Jesus. Before going any further, much of the stories in the New Testament are made up to fulfill prophecy to cover over the true Gospel 400 years before. Because prophecies come from the Book of Isaiah, we know many of the prophecies to be false since it isn't part of the Torah or the Psalms. The antichrist is going to go around the earth and test people on their knowledge of scripture, many from all of the Abrahamic faiths will fail. This is the simplest way to explain it. I'd like to add to that we are led to believe these stories are European or are "white" since white people teach Christianity, this couldn't be further from the truth, the people are deeply Arabian. They aren't as relatable as one might think. Unless if we are from Arabia and we had carried down practices from generations, what I'm basically saying is even modern-day Palestinians or better yet Kuwaitis who are supposedly deeply religious are not relatable to these figures. I wouldn't say we've all been Europeanized, but traditions are gone outside of the hijab and eating date fruit occasionally. We aren't observing faith "wrong", but that this isn't the image we think. One Final note is Prophet Abraham died in Hebron; this is more likely in Arabia since the Muslim faith teaches us that Abraham built the Kaaba unless if you do not believe that.

There is no doubt outside of Christian scriptures that Issa had existed.

There is no proof "Saul" changed his name to Paul, there are many theories of these being two separate people

The book of Acts is a continuation of the Gospel of Luke pg. 22

Paul went off to Arabia but didn't tell the false apostles, he didn't tell us the motive. The Jerusalem false apostles suppressed all accounts of Paul going to Arabia and we only have the last few years of Issa life to hide Issa being in Arabia. Then Paul starts writing all of this stuff about Jeshu none of which is true. Paul was in on this; Paul had seen the antichrist in a dream. The false apostles call us the antichrist for denying their false god.

We don't know what prophecies did happen and which stories are lies take for example Issa in the temple and Prophet Samuel with his mother Hannah

Jeshu mother may not have been named Mary; his mother's sister was named Mary

Judas was also Jeshu brother; his career was both political and religious. Jeshu was no hero; he wanted a throne and was willing to die to be remembered in history.

Jeshu was an illegitimate son of a Roman soldier called Panther. He is referenced by name in the Jerusalem Talmud as Jeshu.

Paul was the one who brought Christianity to Rome, not a group trying to overthrow Pilate through influence pg. 45

Issa can be called Yeshua but not Jeshu

Issa was born in Mecca

Issa was around the fifth century B.C.E. and not first century AD. That is where the small Christian group of Narjan came from and started "Christianity"

Issa was by birth belonged to Levite aristocracy

Since the Christians had made the error of Maryam and Issa being eternal god's it is only fitting that they would believe Issa was the son of God which Muhammad had cleared up

Issa did have disciples, but they are not named in the Quran. Some people may wonder why the "Christian" faith didn't pick up, the Gospel was in Arabia and it wasn't well known.

Mark provided source material for both Luke and Matthew

The birth and infancy of the Issa in Matthew is opposite than the Quran making it false

Yahya and John the Baptist aren't the same pg. 69

Luke's Christmas story is false. Israelite had a ban of intermarriage between tribes. Maryam was not a Levite and his false father was of the royal house of Judah. Jeshu is from the David line and his father was Joseph the carpenter.

In Galatians 4:4 Paul knew of the tradition of Issa as the Messiah but was not going to name Jeshu he wasn't going to tell us his Jeshu's father or mother

John and Luke spoke about Issa; however Paul attributed Jeshu to Issa to make up his own mystical tradition. These people put their names to this Gospel which is false.

Paul would do anything to hide these "secret books" which were genuine Gospels, Paul would ask for these books to be sent to him in prison to be destroyed

There is no proof Yahya was a Baptist but John was. Baptism was a part of Judaism but a small section. In Luke and John, the Issa is clearly a fusion of Jeshu and Issa.

Issa came not long after Ezra. This means Muslims were not in Babylonian Captivity with the true Gospel, this also explains why the true Gospel was not in Palestine during Jeshu's time. It also makes us wonder how or when Christians migrated to Arabia before Muhammad which makes it more believable Palestine had exported a false gospel into Arabia that other tribes did not get.

Ethiopia had the lost Gospel as well

Jeshu was a religious figure who could have been the leader of the Nazarene religious revival.

2 Peter 3:14-16 there are some difficult things in his letters which ignorant and unstable people explain falsely. It can't be the "son of God" because 1 John 5:10 is a son of God reference. The false apostles were clearly hiding Issa's Arabian origins.

Luke had thought Jeshu and Issa were the same person and fused them into one Gospel. John knew Jeshu and Issa were different people. Because there were Nazarenes in Arabia (Muslims), John had asserted that Issa spent his whole life in Nazareth or in Bethlehem. John knew Jeshu's maternal aunt was named Mary and that Issa's mother's name was Mary, so he tried his best to brush it aside. John knew the real name of Jeshu's mother but hid it.

Issa started in Arabia Jerusalem or at least nearby whereas Jeshu ended in Palestine Jerusalem.

Jeshu who went from Galilee to the Jordan River would have had to move eastward across the Jordan River to reach the territory beyond the Jordan. A few days later, he went up to Jerusalem (Galilee is above it), then he 'went on' to the providence of Judea (Jerusalem is in Judea).

When Jeshu stated that all Prophets were persecuted the writers borrowed this from Issa claiming that Prophets are persecuted and put it in Jeshu's words

Jeshu probably came from Galilee in Arabia. That is why Paul was told to go to Arabia

We know Judah and Judea are separate locations. John had changed the Arabian Judah name to Judea in order to cover up Issa's footsteps. John missed one point where Jeshu had two origins of Judea and Galilee.

Jeshu had political and religious views that got him killed, he didn't claim to be the Messiah but was a descendant of David. Even our calendars are wrong which Muhammad corrected. A.D. after the death of Jeshu.

Jeshu's ancestors were from a village that has the same meaning as a carpenter. Jeshu was from the Hejaz. Aramaic was spoken in both Palestine and the Hejaz; that is how Jeshu got the language. Jeshu jokingly called his disciples sons of thunder. Jeshu had 72 followers; the 12 number comes from the 12 tribes of Israel as shown in Luke 10:1. The number 72 has meaning as Muhammad said Islam would be split into 72.

When Jeshu met Nathaniel, he said there was nothing false in him meaning that he was of Israelite descent

The Zealots were against Greek culture being brought into society by Herod, they were terrorists. Simon was from a place in Hejaz called Zu'lah, he was not a Zealot.

Because Judas was translated as the "man with the dagger" (which was mistranslated to describe his homeland) he was supposed to be the person who betrayed Jeshu. Iscariot does not mean betrayer. His surname means Askar which is in Taif region of Arabia.

Jeshu saw a chance to receive the throne in Palestine because he was from the line of David. pg 106

Jeshu wasn't married and had to have been below 30 since it was unheard of for a male to be unmarried at that age. Jeshu was political, but Herod still sent out Sadducees to trap him. Jeshu knew he was going to die; he wanted to die as "the Messiah", he declared that his kingdom was not of the earth and followed the prophecy of Zachariah 9:9 to enter Jerusalem riding on a donkey. Herod wanted Jeshu killed for claiming to be the King of Israel; the Jews wanted him killed for blasphemy. Pilate knew he wasn't innocent but felt it wasn't right to have Jeshu killed so he explained he was not guilty for it.

Mary Magdalene was a harlot who served all of the disciples who were unmarried young men, only Simeon was married. How was Mary Magdalene able to locate the disciples after they were arrested since one was alleged to have been with her during the resurrection?

Jeshu's ancestry pg 138

The Nazarene Church in Palestine dispersed after the Romans conquered Palestine, through many persecutions, Paul's false Church succeeded.

Luke and John's Gospels clearly fuse Issa with Jeshu

"whoever believes in me will never die", "I am the vine.....you can do nothing without me" Jeshu. The Jews got it right that Jeshu was insane.

No less than seven villages in Arabia are called al-Issa; gods were named after people or attributes of the area. It was meant to be Ays' 'the one who keeps watch at night'

Dominion is replaced with kingdom in Jeshu's prayer

Al Issa the false god had the ability to give life to the dead through his water and could revive the dead. The Israelites were confused about this false god. Paul was fascinated at the thought of a god that was both a god and a 'son of god' that could resurrect himself from the dead; the true Messiah Issa didn't appeal to him in any way. Paul worshipped his Lord 'Jesus'; there is no trinity for these people. 'Christ means redeemer, that is why the freemasons call themselves Christian, he brings the dead back to life.

the mythological Al Issa 'the giver of eternal life' raised Lazarus from the dead; John fused and underplayed it with Jeshu.

Al-Eizariya never was 'Bethany', Lazareth was an Arabian god legend with Al- Issa and Al Adhr, Al Issa's life giving ability is established in this story

Luke confused Mount Olives with Olivet from Samuel 15:30

Al- Issa set out to destroy the fig god; that is where the false story of Jeshu drying up the fig tree was inspired

Jeshu was not hiding during the last supper; he was surprised to see that he was going to be arrested

Matthew misquotes Jeremiah for Zachariah 11:12-13. He also says that north and south Galileans have different looks and a different dialect. pg. 183

Judas betrayed the Nazarene Way (false apostles) by leaving Palestine for the Hejaz to avoid death. Judas wasn't liked from the beginning being the bursar (money holder), he was known for being frugal and the false apostles accused him of stealing the money.

Peter's vision was a lie, we can't eat pork fertility god's who die one place to reappear triumphantly elsewhere was common in the Near East (Adonis, Osiris etc). Both Joseph and Issa had similar stories of them being robbed and reappearing. This means the freemasons and the Yeshu Arabian cult believe in a false god who came back to life and can resurrect the dead. Both are saviors.

Bashar Al- Assad has to lie to people about Issa being persecuted when there is no proof for it at all. We know for a fact that Issa did not suffer in Judea. He will not tell us the full story since Saudi Arabia will no doubt pull the plug and begin ruining the Holy Land. Also, once the Second Temple had fallen, most Jews had still waited for a Messiah. Bad people had written in that a Third Temple would come, and "Christians" would be the enemy. Had they have known Christianity in Arabia apart from the Nazarene Way, they would not have written in them as the enemy but because the Nazarene Way with its leader Jeshu had opposed the Jews, these Christians which would spread into Europe would become the enemy. There definitely wouldn't be any hate written in that is in the Jerusalem Talmud, just simply put "the third temple will be constructed, and the Messiah will come" knowing whoever is in the way would have to be taken out. They know Muhammad is a Prophet, but they don't do Hajj which proves the Jews have a false god. Finally, the Quran is most similar to the Old Testament which means the New Testament was written in wrong, they were bond to make mistakes to changing the law that Issa had made.
